

The Disadvantaged Communities Advisory Group is Seeking New Members!

Do you want to help state energy and climate action programs better serve California's disadvantaged communities?

Applications due January 22, 2025

The California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) and the California Energy Commission (CEC) are seeking applications to serve on the Disadvantaged Communities Advisory Group (DACAG). Pursuant to Senate Bill 350 (De León, Chapter 547, Statutes of 2015), the DACAG advises the CPUC and the CEC on how to design and implement policies and programs to be more effective on behalf of disadvantaged communities in the achievement of our clean energy and pollution reduction goals.

The DACAG is composed of 11 members from or representing disadvantaged communities throughout the state, including tribes. DACAG members reflect California's diverse communities, including rural, urban, and represent an array of subject matter expertise, backgrounds, and communities. DACAG members are appointed for 2-year terms, and newly appointed members will begin on April 1, 2025. DACAG members meet monthly in hybrid meetings, set priorities, and participate in other subject matter meetings and events. More information about the DACAG, including the Charter, current members, past meeting recordings and other materials can be found on the DACAG website.

Please note that applicants must go through a conflicts check process and be approved by a vote of both Commissions to be appointed to serve on the DACAG.

Instructions for Applicants:

All candidates must send the following materials to DAC-AG@cpuc.ca.gov, by Wednesday, January 22, 2025.

1. Resume or CV with subject matter knowledge, work history, leadership roles, and/or personal experience showing the ability to discuss and advise on issues related to energy, including environmental impacts, social justice, community health, economic equity, workforce opportunities and/or other factors that are important to and/or impact disadvantaged and other underserved communities.
2. Letter of interest, not to exceed two pages, demonstrating the following:
 - i. candidate's ability and willingness to meaningfully participate and provide thoughtful and actionable input,
 - ii. candidate's ideas about how they would contribute to the DACAG, and
 - iii. specific geographical location(s) of the disadvantaged community the candidate represents and a description of how the candidate will enable more voices from this community to engage.
3. One letter of recommendation supporting the candidate's experience working with disadvantaged communities, particularly related to climate and clean energy issues.

Questions: Individuals with an interest in the DACAG or who have any questions should contact Zara Jamshed at DAC-AG@cpuc.ca.gov, (415) 703-1489.
